

Rajesh Menon

Associate Director (SME-Maritime) | Department of Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade | Ministry of Commerce & Industry | Government of India

Rajesh Menon is a senior technocrat and maritime policy expert with nearly three decades of experience in infrastructure development, including over twenty years across ports, shipping, logistics, and multimodal transportation. His career uniquely spans government, large corporate groups, and academia, giving him a rare ability to bridge policy intent with commercial execution. He has held senior leadership roles within the Government of India, contributing to national initiatives such as PM GatiShakti, Sagarmala, the National Logistics Policy, and the Indian Ports legislative framework. As a maritime subject-matter expert, he has evaluated and advised on complex infrastructure projects, developed integrated port connectivity and logistics strategies, and supported evidence-based policymaking at the highest levels of government. In the private sector, Rajesh spent over a decade with the Adani Group and led strategic business development initiatives at major ports, managing large teams, negotiating high-value projects, and engaging closely with regulators, investors, and CXO leadership. Earlier, at the National Institute of Design, he helped establish commercially viable consultancy and training verticals, strengthening industry-academia collaboration. Beyond executive roles, Rajesh is an active consultant, author, and visiting faculty member at premier institutions. He is a recognized public voice on maritime policy, logistics reform, sustainability, and infrastructure governance, known for translating complex technical issues into actionable policy and strategic insight.
